

Irina Lisovaya, Applied Philology, group 208

THE SIX O'CLOCK NEWS by Tom Leonard

"This is the six o'clock news" - the man said, "And the reason I talk with the BBC accent is because you wouldn't want me to talk about the truth with a voice like you scruff. If I talk about the truth like you scruff you wouldn't think it was true. Just like your way of talking, scruff. There is a right way to spell and there is a right way to talk. This is me talking your right way of spelling. This is my truth. You don't know the truth yourselves, because you can't talk right. This is the six o'clock news. Belt up."